

Elizabeth Nicholl is a research assistant at the Research Centre for Therapeutic Education at the University of Roehampton. She is also engaged in doctoral research at the University of Roehampton into the implications, if any, of working psychotherapeutically with patients with psychiatric diagnoses. She works in private practice in Dorset and is a UKCP registered psychotherapeutic counsellor.