

Mo Mandic is a UKCP-registered existential psychotherapist working in private practice, and also a lecturer and supervisor for the postgraduate programmes in Psychotherapy and Counselling at Regent's University London. His past experience has included periods of employment as a counsellor in two well-established EAP organisations, and also within the NHS. Originally, he held various positions within the specialty chemicals industry, whilst also pursuing a long-held passion for philosophy.